Editorial

Strong submissions are being made by the NZRSA and the Association of Chartered Clubs to the Licensing Control Commission to have the present Visitors' Rule amended to enable members to bring their wives into the Club on any day of the week, rather than the present situation where women are only allowed in the club on the day of the week specified as visitors' day. The L.C.C. inspector recently advised us that the only way we can legally allow our ladies in on a regular basis is by forming a separately incorporated club which they can join as members. Some excerpts from the annual report of the Association of Chartered Clubs are included in this issue. Three clubs were charged last year with admitting non-members. One of these has since had the charge withdrawn, one has been fined $145 and the third offender is awaiting the hearing of the case against it. We are not being niggly when we try to enforce the regulations in our club — we are just doing all we can to stay within the law and protect our interests.

TRANSPORT TO CEMETERIES

Quite a number of our widows are having difficulty in making regular visits to the graves of their loved ones because of a lack of transport and the high cost of taxi hire.

If you would like to be on a roster to help with transport please advise the Secretary-Manager. The more who can assist the less frequently will your services be required.

Remember our motto: "People helping People."

On May 18 six members of Marlborough RSA, accompanied by their wives, travelled to Westport to a regional conference hosted by the Westport RSA. While the conference was in progress the ladies were taken on a sight-seeing trip by the Westport RSA women's section members.

During the conference remits to the annual meeting of the Dominion Council were discussed and an election for district president was held. I am happy to report that Mr Vern Anderson of Marlborough RSA was elected.

Present at the conference were delegates from Greymouth, Westport, Reefton, Hokitika, Motueka and Marlborough. Absent were Nelson, Waimea and Golden Bay.

In the evening we were guests at a NAAFI night held in the Westport club. All in all it was a very pleasant weekend.

Perhaps the RSA is not the dying race some people claim we are. During the last year the RSA membership increased throughout New Zealand by 872 members. Taking into account deaths totalling 2560, this shows 3432 new members joined.

We in Marlborough have had a steady influx of new members this year and I confidently predict that we will have 1500 members by the end of this year.

Of course, I have been known to be wrong.

I was asked recently how many RSAs there are in New Zealand. Not being able to answer off the cuff, I checked.

There are 43 without charters, 58 with separately incorporated clubs and 25 with charters and not separately incorporated. A total of 126.

During Queen's Birthday weekend, Nola and I attended the Div Cav reunion in Hastings.

During the reunion the Div Cav Assn presented to Major-General M. B. Poananga, CBE, a cheque for $1200 for the war museum at Waiouru. Of this sum, $200 came from Marlborough Div Cav.

Major Poananga, himself an ex-Div Cav man, told us that the army had spent $1,000,000 on the project to date. The money all coming from donations and various fund-raising activities run by the army. All labour had been on a voluntary basis or was done by army engineers during the course of their training.

The next reunion for Div Cav will be held in Blenheim during Queen's Birthday, 1981.

At the last executive meeting, acting on advice from Dominion HQ, it was decided to investigate the formation of a "trust fund," to be known as the "Marlborough RSA Trust Fund." When this is finalised details will be made available to members. Rest assured that it is in our best interests that this be done.

As there has been a long delay in the Licensing Control Commission's approval of the New Model Rules for RSAs, DEC resolved "That the L.C.C. be advised that, in view of the fact that several months had elapsed since the submission of the Rules, any action taken to expedite the matter would be appreciated, as adoption of the "New Model Rules" was now a matter of urgency for both Dominion HQ and local associations."

It was hoped to have the new rules available for the annual meeting. However, this was not to be.

P.O.W. annual golf tournament

The national P.O.W. golf tournament was inaugurated by Mr Trevor Brooks, of Wanganui, 10 years ago.

To date it has been played at Wanganui, New Plymouth, Ngaruawahia, Rotorua, Napier, Turangi, Waihi and Stratford.

The 1980 tournament will for the first time be played in Blenheim, during Easter.

There will be 18 holes on April 5 and 6 on the Marlborough Golf Club's Fairhall course.

We ask that all participants be members of affiliated clubs, although we do hope that as many non-playing wives as possible will accompany their husbands.

We are also hoping that South Island clubs will be well represented to complement the visitors who will be coming from the North Island.

Registrations this year will be handled by Jim and Annette Kinder, with the support of local POWs and the golf section of the RSA.

Bob met a married woman at a party. After a little play, he propositioned her. The married woman thought it over and figured it would be an easy way to make some side money without her husband knowing it, so she made a date for him to come to her home when her hubby would be at work.

Bob kept the date and just before leaving the house, he placed a $20 bill on the end table.

Later that day when hubby came home, he saw the $20 bill and the wife was startled when he asked if Bob had been there that day.

The wife thinking she had been caught, decided it would be best to tell the truth.

"Yes," she gasped, and waited fearfully for his next question, but none came.

"He's a good bloke," said the hubby "he borrowed $20 from me at the party and I'll be blowed if he didn't pay me back the same day he said he would."

KING'S EMPIRE VETERANS (N.Z.) INC. HISTORY

Supplied by Keith Lower, of Taita.

The King's Empire Veterans was first formed in 1900 with the then Governor-General, the Rt Hon. Earl of Ranfurly, P.C., G.C.M.G., its first president, by the veterans of early wars and also those who had fought in the Maori Wars.

The Battle Honours of this association are as follows:—

Inkerman	Alma	Balaclava	Lucknow
New Zealand	Tel-el-Kebir	Burma	Delhi
Atbara	Omderman	Khartoum	Chitral
Waziristan	Tarah	South Africa

The Great War 1914-1918

Second Great War 1939-1945

The following is a short summary and history of the King's Empire Veterans:

In 1900 Lord Ranfurly, knowing that there were no fewer than 7000 veterans in New Zealand, consisting of Naval, Imperial and Colonial ex-troops decided that an association of some sort was necessary, so under his guidance and direction the then Empire Veterans' Association was born.

Lord Ranfurly himself was at that time and up to the time of his death, the first president. Under him were four vice-presidents, 26 on the committee and no less than six sub-committees, viz: Finance, employment of veterans, general purpose, veterans' claims, welfare and entertainment.

Lord Ranfurly passed away on October 10, 1933, and at a special meeting after his death Captain J. A. Algie was elected president.

In 1909 there were 300 financial members and this figure rose to 500 in 1913. The Veterans' were the first servicemen's association in N.Z.

On the occasion of the visit of Lord Kitchener in 1910 he was asked to accept the post of Ho. Col. of the association, but he pointed out that owing to their being called an association it was impossible for him to accede to the request. He proposed that, with the sanction of the King, the name should be changed to the King's Empire Veterans. The King liked this proposal immensely and authorised the change by Royal Warrant, and this is the title by which we are known today.

The Royal Warrant was held by the president of the association but with the death of Captain J. A. Algie all trace of the warrant has been lost.

In 1935 the membership dropped owing to deaths and it was decided to approach the South African War Veterans' Association and invite any of its members between the ages of 60-65 to join the KEVs. A hearty response saw the membership rise again.

In 1938 it was proposed that a petition should be forwarded to HM the King to have the title of King's Empire Veterans altered to that of King's Company of Veterans. This request was declined due to the fact that the proud possessors of the title King's Company are the No. 1 Company of the Grenadier Guards.

It may be of interest to know that an early photograph of some of the original members of the KEV Association is to be found in the old colonists' museum, where it was unveiled by Lord Liverpool and accepted by the then Mayor of Auckland, Sir James Gunson, on behalf of the city.

The first 100 original badges came from England in 1903 and were made from the original metal reserved for the making of Victoria Crosses, but have for many years past become a local product.

The Veterans over the years have had the honour of forming guards of honour for many important people, including the Duke of Cornwall and York on 10/6/1901, Field Marshal Lord Kitchener 9/2/1910 and Duke and Duchess of York, April 1927.

They paraded before the Duke of Gloucester in the Domain in 1930 and latterly met Field Marshal Montgomery, beside many others.

It is pleasing to note that all our Governors-General have graced our association with their patronage.

In 1941 a handsome banner or Guidon was consecrated at St Matthews, Auckland, with many veterans present. To be found on the banner is the motto: "Pleni Annarum, Honorum Pleni" (Full of years, of Honours Full).

At one period there were no fewer than 19 Imperial regiments represented under this banner, exclusive of the Dominion forces.

On May 15, 1965, it was resolved at the annual meeting to form an Auckland branch and branches were to be formed at other cities.

Prior to this date all KEVs in New Zealand had been administered

MY ENCOUNTER WITH A DEAD MULE!

Story No. 2 ————— By C. M. J. Watson

Following the abortive attempt by NZ Div to capture and hold Casino and following the fiasco resulting from the massive bombing of the town and the monastery which solved nothing and only added to the difficulties encountered by our troops, especially the tanks (ask Jim Furness), No. 7 Platoon of 2 Coy 27th Machine-gun Bn were moved from their holding position around Trocchio up on to the rocky heights of Mt Cairo, a dominant mass that overlooked the monastery.

We relieved a British infantry brigade and our gun positions in support of 21 Bn were facing the enemy-held village of Terelle in the Colle Abate salient.

Our job, if called upon, was to give fire support to the Polish brigade who finally, after grievous loss, captured the monastery.

To reach our position leaving Hove Dump we travelled up the Terelle Terror Track in specially tuned jeeps, without lights. Up six miles of very steep and numerous hairpin bends on a very narrow metal road, full of large holes and at the end of the jeep road, all our gear was off-loaded on to mules who toiled up the rocky track to the gun pits. In the process many of the mules were killed by mortar shells and pushed off the track into the basin-like gully at the base of which we had installed our Signal HQ, about half a mile back from the gun sites.

Snowy Hilton, the other signaller, and myself laid two lines up the rocky lip of the basin to the forward guns, and as Jerry often plastered this track with mortars we were kept busy repairing or re-laying lines.

During my turn on duty one night, a call came through from the guns saying that one of the lines had been cut by mortar fire. After waking Snow to take over my shift, I set off to repair the line.

Knowing where the break was, I decided to take a short cut across the scrub-covered valley floor and was doing fine when in the dark I stood on the ready to burst very rotten carcass of a dead mule, my leg plunging in up to my thigh.

The stench of the escaping gas was almost overpowering but I managed not to vomit and, tearing off some nearby branches, I withdrew my leg and did my best to brush off the slime and crawling maggots and carried on to the gun site where I repaired the line and after testing, I headed back home, arriving just after daybreak, longing for a cup of char and a bite to eat.

But no way would anyone let me into the dugout as they said that I stank to high heaven and even after a week and many hot sponges all over and burning my polluted clothes, the men still complained that I smelt.

My regards to Sgt Hec Stuart, of Cambridge, who was so grievously wounded in this area — a much-loved member of 27th Bn.

The whole truth

At the supermarket meat counter a woman was struggling to hold a dozen or so packages of hamburger.

Offered a shopping cart which was still empty, she said "Thanks, but no. I'm on a diet to lose 16 pounds and I just want to see how much that really is!"

GOLF SECTION

President's Report

It is my pleasure to present the fourth annual report of the Golf Section.

The main activities during the past year have been the running of the annual tournament and the visit to Murchison. Support for these activities has been gratifying and the golf section is firmly established as an important part of the corporate life of the Marlborough RSA.

Finances are in a sound position. With the support of our members and generous sponsorship we were able to break even for the year.

1. The annual tournament was held on Sunday, October 15, at Fairhall. The weather was somewhat indifferent so a field of 88 was satisfactory in the circumstances. The day went off smoothly and an enjoyable tournament resulted.

2. The Murchison trip was again the highlight of the season, with a full bus making the trip. Playing conditions were very good and the home team turned it on, both with their golf and their hospitality. Though we lost the Sunshine Trophy we were not disgraced.

3. The Prisoner-of-War Association is to hold its annual tournament at Fairhall during Easter 1980. This is the first time this event has been held in the South Island and it will be our pleasure to assist their association in the running of their tournament.

4. The RSA national golf tournament is to be held at Kaikohe this year. Because of time and expense involved neither of our selected representatives nor their runners-up have been able to enter this event.

In conclusion I wish to thank my committee for their support during the past year. I wish members good golfing during 1979.

Off and running

From the society page of an English newspaper: "The bride wore a lovely white satin gown elegantly laced, a cap of matching lace with a veil. She made a pretty picture as she carried a bouquet of white orchids. The groom didn't show up."

Off the beam

A father decided his small son was a little off the beam. He took him to a psychiatrist who asked the boy a few questions.

"How many wheels does a car have?"

"Four."

"What is it a cow has four of that a woman has two of?"

"Legs."

"What does your father have that your mother likes most?"

"Money."

The psychiatrist turned to the father and said, "This boy is smart."

The father said, "I guess so. I missed the last two questions myself."

Wild picnic

In the darkened woods on a Labor Day Picnic, she moaned. "Oh, Freddie, you've never made love to me like this before. Is it because of the holiday spirit?"

"No. It's probably because I'm not Freddie."

WOMEN'S SECTION NEWS

BLenheim

After a busy April with Poppy Day and Anzac Day behind us and now we also have had our AGM, the women's section is getting back to normal.

There was a large crowd at the AGM and there was no election for the committee

BLenheim

Mrs J. Allan thanked four members for their help and co-operation to the section while serving on the committee.

They were Mesdames Olive Finlay, Rene Birkett, Alice Woodfield and Joan Andrews, none of whom sought re-election.

A presentation was made to Mrs Finlay, she being a long-standing committee member and a past-president.

Mrs Pat Denton was made a life member of the women's section in recognition of her service.

Mrs Peggy Tombs was elected an honorary life member of the section.

A presentation was also made to the retiring president, Mrs Jo Allan, and she was thanked for her leadership over the past year.

We are looking forward to meeting our old friends at the first afternoon of the new year.

Officers elected were:

President: Eva Kennington.

Vice-presidents: Pat Denton and Kath Gane.

Secretary: Colleen Neal.

Treasurer: Ursula Taylor.

Committee: Kath Lucas, Vyner Quinn, Cath Smith, Ila Smith, Grace Haack, Sadie Parker, Mavis Clifford, Terry Hart and Joan Harris.

Immediate Past President: Jo Allan.

Hard work

The galley slaves were straining at their oars. The galley-master stood up amidships and told them: "I have good news and bad news. First the good news: every man gets a ration of Anatolian wine, courtesy of the Anatolian ambassador. Now the bad news: The Anatolian ambassador just came aboard, and he wants to water-ski."

PICTON

Apart from the annual general meeting, May was a very quiet month for section members. There were 34 present at the AGM.

After two years as president, Betty Topp did not seek re-election but was elected to continue as our delegate to the club committee.

Former vice-president Sybil Phillips was elected as our new president. Although we were sorry to lose Betty, I have no doubt that Sybil, with her considerable experience on various committees and her willingness to pitch in and help on all occasions, will prove to be a most capable president.

Another very active member, June Ireland, was elected vice-president and we were fortunate to retain the services of Eileen Mattingley and Joan Peat as secretary and treasurer respectively.

Mrs Rose Townshend and Mrs Duckworth (Blenheim) continue as our patrons.

The following were elected to the committee: Margaret Charters, Shirley Rowlands, Dorothy Dahlberg, Joan Taylor, Pearl Myles and Petal Summers.

The sales table officers are Petal Summers, Shirley Rowlands and Nancy Tranter, and the publicity officer is Joan Taylor.

The Wednesday afternoon indoor bowls sessions continue to be popular, particularly for those who prefer the more informal roll-ups. The sessions are under the direction of Dorothy Dahlberg.

And so we enter another official year. It was decided at our AGM to mark The Year of the Child by making a donation to the Waikawa Bay Playcentre, with whom we have had close ties over recent years.

Here's hoping for another successful term for our women's section.

THIS MONTHS PERSONALITY

RHOY / KINZETT

I was born in Wakefield, Nelson, on August 4, 1888. My parents had a farm at Tadmore. When I was five my dad passed away — I can just remember him. Mother married again and we went to Southland.

We moved around a bit until my stepfather took up a block of bush at south Hillend that had been burnt after a sawmill had worked it out. I went to school at Lime Hills.

My two sisters and I used to walk four miles each way to attend school, but I didn't get a great deal of schooling as my stepfather kept me at home to work (and how!)

I was driving a bullock team at 11, while the old man worked the plough, and many a crack I got around the bum with the bullock whip if things didn't go right.

We were there for around seven years when my parents bought a farm at Wilsons Crossing, about 14 miles out of Invercargill.

When I was 19 I left home and went driving a wagon team, carting flax to a mill.

The chap I was working for eventually sold out and moved down to Otatara. A company had bought up a lot of farms there and cut them up into sections for weekenders.

I put in quite a bit of time ditching and road-making through native bush.

Where the airport and borstal farm are used to be covered with water when the tide was in.

Wages then were 22/6 a week with found. I wanted to go the races at Winton but the boss said I couldn't — I went and that was that!

From there I went to Matura to work for a cockie up there and I also had a season at a threshing mill for one shilling an hour. When that finished I went back home.

After a time I got itchy feet and went over to the West Coast. The train from Christchurch went as far as the Bealey and you then had to take a coach over the Otira to the other side.

I got a job at Moana, alongside Lake Brunner, at a sawmill. There was a mill at nearly every station then.

I had met an old school-mate and with him and another chap we went to the North Island and got a job with a bush gang, felling 1000 acres at 32/6 an acre.

The boss and another chap were underscrubbing and 12 of us chopping. We only stayed nine days.

We ended up in Taihape one night and were looking for a place to stay. A joker got tossed out of a pub and we thought that would be the place to stay. Turned out to be the dearest pub in town.

We moved on to Ohakune. My mates got a job metal-crushing for the council and I worked at a mill scarfing trees for cross-cutters.

Raetihi was our next stop, felling 150 acres of bush. We had nearly finished the job when I got word that my mother was very ill, so I went back south.

I got a job carting materials for the railway extension from Tuatapere to Orawai.

I had taken over my stepfather's contracting plant and had a job carting flax to a mill at Sandy Domain.

The first war had been going some time and I thought it was about time I did something about it.

I hired a chap with a family to drive the team and I went into camp at Trentham with the 15th Reinforcements.

After pounding around there and Featherston and Papawai we finally left Wellington for Plymouth, via Albany, Durban, Cape Town and Cape Verde Islands. When we arrived we were posted to the Dinks.

We joined them at Fleurbaix in October, 1916, and went straight into the front line.

Early in December 200 of us were pulled out to train for a raid on Jerry's front line. I was with a Lewis gun team covering the left flank.

The raid was quite a success and we destroyed several targets and took nine prisoners. That was in the week prior to Christmas.

A year later I went into the Canadian hospital at Boulogne and eventually ended up back in Blighty at Hornchurch Convalescent Camp.

After 17 days leave I was posted to Brockton Camp, where I went through the regimental school for NCOs.

The last company we trained with went on leave just prior to the Armistice being signed, otherwise we would have been back over the ditch with them.

I was at Sling Camp for a period and it was there I got married. Shortly after I was sent to Torquay to await a boat home to N.Z.

I worked in the orderly room there and can recall one amusing incident.

Major XYZ was in charge and one afternoon a lady came in and asked if she could see Corporal ABC.

The major said he was sorry, but the corporal had left and was halfway back to N.Z.

"Oh my god," said the lady, "look at me (she was pregnant) and my three daughters are the the same way."

The major pondered this for a moment and then said: "I'm very sorry, but there is nothing I can do for you. But you should be proud that he has left so much for you to remember him by!"

We eventually headed for home on January 15, 1920, landing at Wellington in March.

Back in Invercargill I got a job at a sawmill at Bush Siding.

I was a bushman there for 20 years before moving to Nelson and taking a job with Baigent and Sons.

We were building the air force station there and when the Xmas holidays came around I signed up with the Air Force.

I put in 14 years at different stations and finally ended up on the gate at Woodbourne.

I retired at the age of 70, and now, at 91, I feel I have had a pretty good innings.

FOOTNOTE: Rho continued to lead an active life after retirement and was greenkeeper at the Renwick Bowling Club until a year or two ago. He still rides a bike and does his gardening. He was elected a life member of the Marlborough RSA in 1970. Rho has now left the district to live with his daughter in Canterbury. Renwick will not seem the same without him.

VICTORIA CROSS

The article in March "Crossfire" on New Zealand's VCs aroused my curiosity and I did a little research and read some items that could be of interest to members.

The Victoria Cross is the most highly-coveted decoration which it is possible for any soldier, sailor or airman to obtain and takes precedence over any other decoration, civil or military.

It is only awarded for bravery "in the presence of the enemy."

The Cross carries with it, for ranks below that of an officer, a pension of £10 a year, with an additional £5 a year for every bar awarded. Any holder unable to earn a livelihood because of age or infirmity may have the annuity increased, provided that the total amount of annuity and any other public pension does not exceed £75 per year.

The above conditions were in force in 1918. If I find in further research that these conditions have been altered I will include them in a later article I hope to write.

However, the £10 per year coincides with the $20 paid in 1953.

The VC was instituted in 1856 by Queen Victoria for conspicuous gallantry during the Crimean War.

In 1858 it was decided that the cross could be awarded for an act of bravery that was not performed in the presence of the enemy. In 1881 the original conditions were restored, thus making the VC a decoration that can only be won on active service.

During the period that the temporary rule was in force, Pvt Timothy O'Hea of the 1st Bn Rifle Brigade won the cross during the "Fenian Rising" in Canada, for helping to put out a fire on an ammunition train, and one surgeon and four privates of the 24th Regiment of Foot received the award for saving lives at sea in the Andaman Islands in May, 1867.

Nowadays, the VC can be won by anyone, whether in the Army, Navy, Royal Marines or Air Force, or even if a civilian who serves in any capacity with any of these forces.

At one time the medal was confined to those serving the Army, Navy or Royal Marines, and it was not until 1911 that everyone who could have a claim to the award was admitted.

In 1881 its scope was widened and such ranks as chaplains to the forces were eligible.

In 1911 George V made it a rule that native officers and men of the Indian Army could win the award.

Nine years before Edward VII had ordained that the Cross could be awarded posthumously. Until that date, no cross could be given to the relatives if the winner had been killed or had died after his deed and before the investiture. Edward VII had not long been on the throne before he altered this rule.

The first man to win the VC was a sailor, Charles David Lucas, mate of HMS Hecla during the Crimean War. That was in 1854.

As the cross was not instituted until 1856, Queen Victoria consented to a suggestion that any acts of bravery worthy of the VC performed during the Crimean War but before the VC was founded, be given the same recognition as those performed after its inception.

No individual soldier holds the distinction of being the first to win the Cross.

On the day of the battle of Alma during the Crimean campaign, six soldiers, through their acts of bravery, made their names immortal by being the first winners of the VC.

The were Robert James Lindsay, James McKechnie, John Simpson Knox, William Reynolds, Luke O'Connor and Edward Bell.

Prior to WW2 there had been only two men who won a bar to their cross. They were Captain Noel Martin Godfrey Chavasse and Captain Arthur Martin Leake, both of the Royal Army Medical Corps.

In 1902 Captain Martin Leake, although some 40 Boers were firing at him from no more than 100 yards, went to attend a wounded soldier. Not content with this, he again went out to attend to a wounded officer and while dressing his wounds was himself hit three times.

In the first year of the 1914-18 war, Captain Leake, although exposed to heavy fire, went out to bring in wounded troops who were lying close to enemy trenches. For this he was awarded a bar to his cross.

In 1916, Captain Chavasse, during an attack, tended wounded all day under heavy fire. Next day he was wounded while carrying in a wounded man. That night, he brought up volunteers and rescued three men lying outside enemy wire.

In 1917 he earned a bar to his cross. Severely wounded while carrying a wounded man, he still carried out repeated and successful searches for other wounded. He ultimately died of the wounds he received.

The first Indian soldier to win the Victoria Cross was Sepoy Khudstad, of the Duke of Connaught's Forces. He won his cross in October, 1914.

It is widely thought that all crosses are cast from guns captured in the Crimean War. This is true of all crosses up until the time of the 1914-18 war, but all crosses won in the 1914-18 war, all 579 of them, were cast from Chinese guns.

Altogether 1100 Victoria Crosses had been won up to the end of the 1914-18 campaign.

AIRSHIPS

Meanwhile, lighter-than-air craft seemed not to be destined to fulfil their earlier promise. After the Atlantic crossing of R.34 in 1919, a new airship, R.38, was laid down, with a capacity of 2,700,000 cubic feet. This, the world's biggest airship, unfortunately broke amidships during trials near Hull, causing the deaths of Air Commodore Maitland and twenty-seven officers and men. Two new ships, the R.100 and R.101, were designed in 1924, but were not completed until 1929. In the interval a scheme of flying aeroplanes on to an airship was tried with considerable success.

The R.100 in 1930 successfully completed a voyage from Cardington to Montreal, 3,764 miles in 74 hours, and a return trip in 57 hours. The same year plans were made for the maiden voyage of R.101: with Lord Thomson, Secretary of State for Air, and Air Vice Marshal Sir Sefton Brancker, Director of Civil Aviation, aboard, she was to fly from Cardington to Karachi. She set out on the evening of October 4. At two o'clock next morning, near Beauvais in France, the R.101 crashed: fire swept through the ship, and of the fifty-four passengers and crew aboard only seven survived. Subsequently, plans for a lighter-than-air transport service were suspended and airships ceased to be built by Britain.

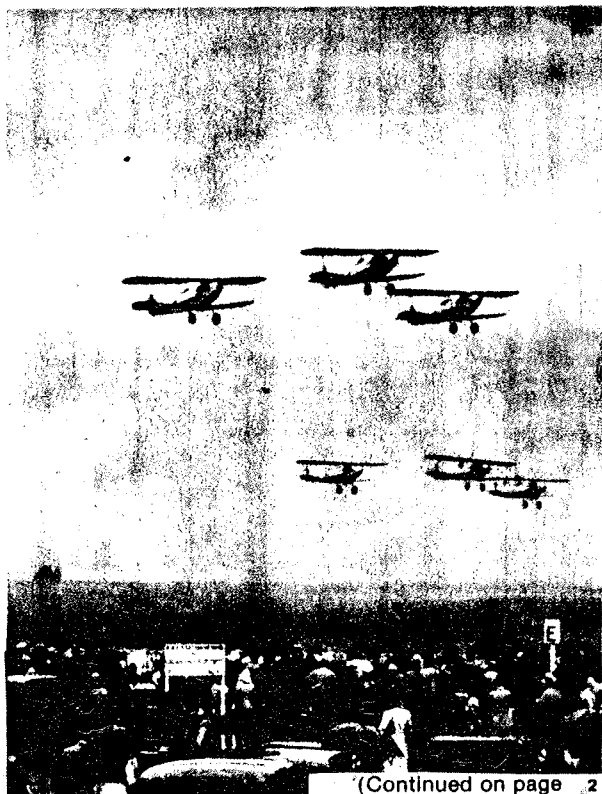

AIR CONTROL

These experimental years were not confined to the breaking of speed, distance and height records. In the course of operations against remote and rebellious tribesmen there had been developing a system of air control. The forces of the "Mad" Mullah in Somaliland, a trouble-maker who had defied authority since 1900, were dispersed in 1920 by eight aircraft in the space of three weeks.

At a conference held in Cairo in March, 1921, for the purpose of examining the position of mandated and other territories in the Middle East, it was agreed that the control of Mesopotamia (Iraq) should be permanently the responsibility of the Royal Air Force. Thus Iraq, in 1922, became the first "Air Command." The Air Officer Commanding-in-

Every year from 1922 to 1937, usually on the last Saturday in June, the R.A.F. gave a great display of flying at Hendon aerodrome near London. Only twice was the weather as bad as the picture suggests. The Hawker "Hart" day-bombers are not affected by the heavy rain and low clouds of June 24, 1933.

After the 1918 Armistice the R.A.F. organised an airmail service between England and the Armies of Occupation in western Germany. Picture shows the first mail-bags arriving at Hwasiridge near Folkestone.

Fairey IIIc seaplanes on the Nile at Khartoum. The R.A.F. made many pioneer flights along rivers which later became the regular commercial trunk air lines.

Chief and salvage of all fighting forces, it was responsible for maintaining the Bagdada Cairo Air Mail and Air Ambulance services. In 1928 the Aden Protectorate also was put under the control of the R.A.F.

This system of air control did away with the necessity of military occupation of a country and, on exact instructions, casualties and captives were kept to a minimum.

In 1925, the R.A.F. checked outbreaks of the Mansud tribes in Waziristan; a campaign which in 1929 had proved inconclusive after causing 1,329 casualties, was now brought to an end for the loss of only two men.

PREVENTIVE ACTION

While it was waging these little wars, the R.A.F. did noble police and rescue work. The value of aircraft for transporting doctors, paraffin and medical supplies was obvious, as the Red Cross Society rapidly recognised and used this method. More difficult was the evacuation of large numbers of people from places of imminent danger. But in 1927, when rebellious tribesmen in Afghanistan took arms against King Amanullah, and the road to the Khyber Pass and isolated the British Legation in Kabul, squadrons from Egypt and Baghdad were called upon to assist. Making eighty journeys over mountainous country, severe weather they rescued nearly 600 civilians from Kabul.

Three years later the Peshawar Incident showed the effectiveness of air patrol. 15,000 Afghani tribesmen had assembled in Designed during the 1914-18 war as a two-seat fighter, the Bristol Fighter proved a most useful general purpose machine and remained for many years as peace-time equipment of many co-operation squadrons of the R.A.F.

the Khajuri Plain and threatened the British cantonments. It looked as though the whole Frontier would soon be ablaze. The Afridis, addressed by loud-speakers carried in aeroplanes, and attacked from the air where they persisted in advancing, soon came to terms. The action lasted 10 days, fewer than 100 Afridis were killed, but an important region was freed from the depredations of a lawless and aggressive tribe.

HOME DEFENCE

Frontier patrol over a widely spread Empire did not leave many squadrons for home

defence. Demobilisation had at one time reduced the strength of the R.A.F. to less than 25 out of its former 200 squadrons. By slow degrees it was growing again, but in 1933 there were still only 40 service and auxiliary squadrons based in Britain. The failure in that year of the Geneva Conference to secure disarmament, and ensuing events on the Continent, emphasised the need for rearmament. The Air Ministry was given new powers for expansion, shadow factories were built, a Volunteer Reserve of pilots was created, Operation Commands took over air defence, and air exercises were greatly increased in scope and purpose. Until 1939, slowly, but with no sacrifice of quality to numbers, Britain did re-arm.

Supermarine S.6.B. High speed seaplanes of this type won the Schneider Trophy finally for Great Britain in 1931, and some days later captured the World's Speed Record with an average speed of 408 m.p.h. Designed by the late R. J. Mitchell and powered by the special Rolls-Royce "R" engine, the S.6.B was the direct ancestor of the "Spitfire" with its Rolls-Royce "Merlin" motor.

TODAY'S GREAT DRINK

EXTRACTS FROM THE ANNUAL REPORT OF THE CHARTERED CLUBS ASSOCIATION OF N.Z.

VISITORS' RULES

The Association of Chartered Clubs was startled to be told by the Licensing Commission last year, that Visitors' Rules accepted by the Commission and used since 1881 when Clubs were first Chartered, were contrary to the Sale of Liquor Act. This rule was the one used allowing members of affiliated Clubs to enter other Clubs as Visitors. We therefore, require to amend paragraph (h) of Section 166, by adding the following: "Provided that any Visitor may be sold and supplied with liquor on the Club premises if that Visitor is a financial member of another Chartered Club, affiliated to the Association of Chartered Clubs of New Zealand. All such Visitors shall enter their name and address, and the name of the Club to which they hold membership of, in a book provided for that purpose."

INCOME TAX REGULATIONS

The information furnished hereunder has been obtained from the Department of Inland Revenue, in order to ensure that all Chartered Clubs become fully aware of the Department's requirements, and remove any doubts which may exist regarding tax obligations.

Chartered Clubs are liable to income tax on funds derived from outside sources, unless specifically exempt from tax in terms of the Act. This means that any income received from non-members such as rents, interest, trading transactions, and advertising revenue becomes subject to Income Tax.

INCOME TAX

Section 61(34) of the Income Tax Act 1976 states as follows:

"Income derived by any society, association or organisation, whether incorporated or not, which is not carried on for the purposes of profit or gain to any proprietor, member or shareholder, and which is by the terms of its Memorandum, articles of association, rules or other document constituting that society, association or organisation governing its activities, prohibited from making any distribution, whether by way of money, property or otherwise howsoever, to any such proprietor, member or shareholder:

Provided that the amount of the exemption under this paragraph in any income year shall not exceed $500 of the aggregate of that income."

In order to qualify for the above-mentioned exemption, clubs must have an adequate clause in their constitution or rules forbidding the distribution of funds or property to their members.

Member clubs who may have adopted the Associations' rule 28 on Dissolution, should ensure that the undermentioned words are completely deleted from this clause.

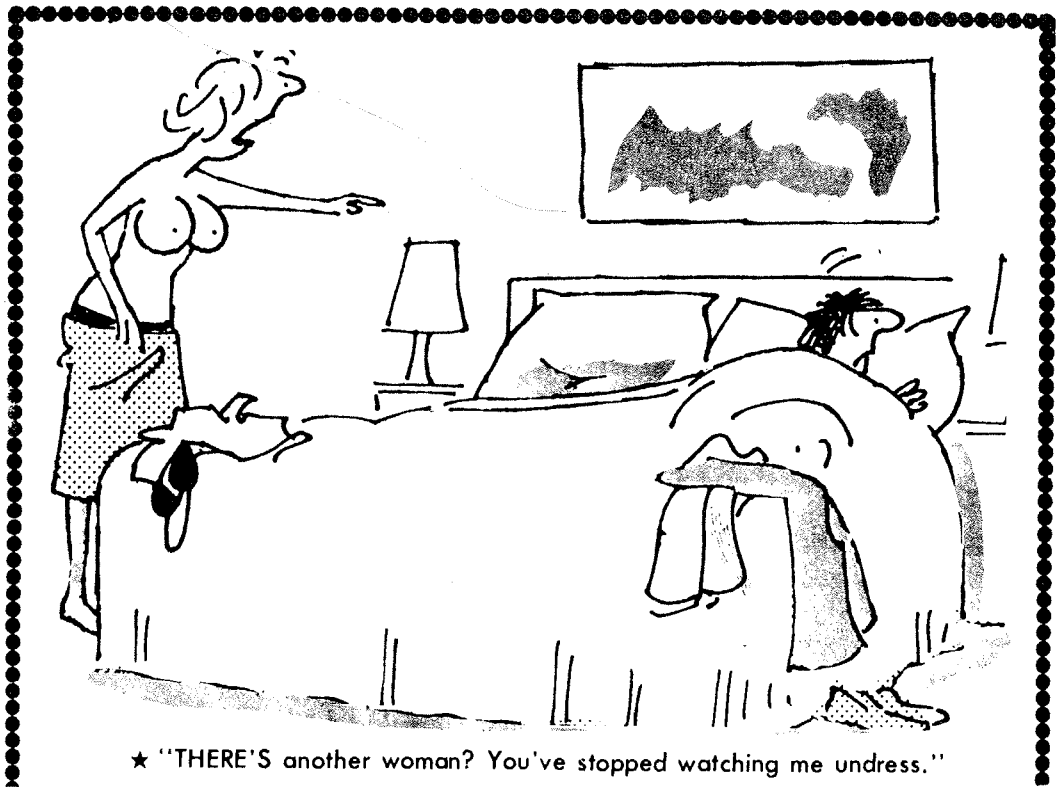

"or as otherwise set out in the instrument of dissolution."

The Inland Revenue Department have advised that rules including the above term, are considered deficient, and require amending before general exemption would be allowed.

OBITUARY

A Very Special Person

The late Dorrie Davis' long and outstanding contribution of her many talents to bring enjoyment and happiness to thousands of people in many spheres of community life, and her love and dedication to her family — their upbringing — has justly earned and merited for her that rare and distinctive term that we apply only to an outstandingly beloved one in our community — a very special person.

A long-time member of and a past Noble Grand of the Beaver Rebekah Lodge No. 86, she served the Lodge with distinction and graced their social functions with her musical talents over many years.

Just a few months before her death, the Country Women's Institute honoured Dorrie with life membership for her contribution over many years as a dramatist, singer, musician.

The funeral service held in the Wesley Methodist Church was attended by a large number of her many friends and family and at the conclusion of the service and panegyric, so ably and truly extolled by the Rev. Stubbs, the Maori cultural group with whom Dorrie had a long and close association, paid a moving tribute by singing this hymn:

Tama ngakau Marie

Tama a t'atua

Arohalna atou

Murua ra nga hara

Wetekina mai

Enel here kino

Whakararu nai

Translation:

Son of peace

Son of God

Fill us with thy love and pity

Heal our wrongs and help our need

Rush the storm of strife and passion

Bid its cruel discords cease

Several years ago the Marlborough RSA womens section recognised the long and outstanding service of Dorrie Davis by conferring on her the honour of life membership. Members in general owe a great debt of gratitude for the countless hours of joy and happiness she so willingly gave to entertain with her charming gifts of singing, music, drama — and an outstanding dancer who will long be remembered for her contribution to the social life of the RSA.

It is pleasing to note that her musical gifts live on among several of her sons and daughters — to whom the RSA extends its sincere sympathy in the loss of a much-loved mother.

Dorrie's personal life was no bed of roses, in fact, it was often grim, hard and painful — yet she faced it all with courage and a cheerful smile, even when she knew that her time was limited — an example that many of us would find hard to follow, and I am sure that I echo the thoughts of her host of friends when I say that we are all richer people for having known and enjoyed the friendship of A VERY SPECIAL PERSON.

Sub-Branch News

PICTON NEWS

The general meeting was held on June 5 with a reasonable attendance. Members were advised that the following were elected to the executive committee for the ensuing 12 months.

President: Jim Maxwell.

Vice-Presidents: Peter Ashfield and Fred McCall.

Secretary-Treasurer: Gordon Mattingley.

Immediate Past President: Jim Taylor.

Executive: James Cook, Ross Fredericks, John Frisken, Stacy Golder, Danny Linton, Les Moody, Athol Norton and Clive Taylor.

For those members who were unable to attend the meeting we now print some of the retiring president, Jim Taylor's, comments.

Condolences: We record with regret the passing of the following members: S. Borrie, R. L. Stent, J. Findlater, O. R. Heberd, S. Steel, C. H. N. Mottram, E. W. Charters, R. F. Parkinson.

The 11 executive meetings were well attended and I thank committee members for their support.

The branch membership now stands at 252.

Women's section now has a membership of more than 100. We are grateful for the women's financial and general support during the year and in particular, their donation of $400 to our funds was a wonderful effort.

We look forward to their continued friendship, support and co-operation.

The indoor bowls club had a reasonably good year, however they would still like to see a little more patronage on Thursday evenings. The ladies bowls afternoons continue to be very popular.

Poppy Day: The street appeal this year was again a huge success with sales and donations realising $334.94, slightly higher than last year's record figure.

Many thanks to those who gave of their time to make this possible and especially to the womens section.

All proceeds from the sale of poppies were, as usual, deposited in our Relief and Welfare account.

Anzac Day: The dawn parade and service were again most successful, with 110 members, including some from Blenheim and elsewhere attending. There were also a number of the general public present.

Our sincere thanks go to the ladies who, as usual, remained at the club to heat and serve the breakfast which was prepared by the Waikawa Playcentre ladies.

Floral tributes which had been prepared by the ladies were laid at the Cenotaph and the cemetery. Transport was provided by the Territorial unit.

World War One veterans were again visited on this special day by members of the welfare committee. Special thanks go to Johnny and Les.

The Anzac Day donation box realised the sum of $60. This was donated to the Waikawa Playcentre.

Welfare: The weekly visits to homes and hospital were conscientiously carried out by Johnny Murrell and Les Moody, with assistance as required from Ray Bascand.

The servicemen's cemetery has been well maintained during the year. Following a slip it was necessary to clear soil from about two-thirds of the area and the headstones cleaned. Our appreciation and thanks go to Richie Smith and his committee for the mopping-up operations.

General: At an extraordinary meeting on 12/2/79 approval was given to raise and uplift a loan, on mortgage, to enable the building extensions to proceed. The Canterbury Savings Bank agreed to advance $25,000 and this will be uplifted in the near future.

In conclusion I would like to thank all members who have endeavoured to make my duties a little easier.

Special thanks to Bill Abernethy for checking the books prior to audit and also thanks to the MRSA for their continued co-operation and support.

And special thanks to our worthy secretary, Gordon Mattingley, he has had a mighty tough year.

Thank you for your confidence and support.

BEATING THE BUDGET!

With prudent foresight our Secretary-Manager has stockpiled a supply of liquor purchased before the Budget. This will enable the club to hold its prices at the moment, but members should expect a price rise when our supplies are depleted.

BLENHEIM COMMERCIAL CLEANERS LTD

Steam Clean Carpet Cleaners Steam Clean

First of all, a fine spray of steam is forced into the carpet.

With a deep rinse action the steam penetrates the carpet, loosening both clinging surface soil and deep down dirt and holding it in suspension.

The dirt is then immediately extracted by powerful suction.

REDUCES FREQUENCY OF REPEAT CLEANING — because the deep steam process is so thorough there is no sub-surface soil remaining to work its way upward. You can actually see the hidden dirt in suspension as it is removed — including that left behind from previous shampooing.

CUTS DRYING TIME TO A MINIMUM — from the usual eight to ten hours to a much more acceptable one to three hours.

ADDS YEARS OF USE AND GOOD LOOKS — because the grinding wear resulting in telltale traffic patterns is minimized by removal of grit and grime from the base of the fibers. Furniture marks disappear as gentle steaming action fluffs fibers back to their original appearance.

RESTORES DEEPER LUSTER AND COLOR — because simultaneous cleansing and extracting action penetrates to full depth of the fibers — not just the surface ends.
